

The fact is our project badly needs a treasurer and as nobody so far is willing to help with this task I would like to offer my help. But if elected, I hope you all are going to be patient with me as I do not really have the experience needed for executing this role. I am however willing to learn and as I was assured by several members of this community that they will help me, I am sure I can help with this area of our project.

If you don't know me let me tell you a few words about myself. I'm involved in the community since the very beginning and during my times I was involved in several projects and hold several positions. But what's more important I worked with many, many people together and in most cases I believe it wasn't hard to team with me up. I'm always trying to be respectful and objectivity is one of my most important imperatives. I'm not saying I'm always following it but I am trying hard to be objective and see all sides of an issue. Given that there are many people I'm a friend with from the beginning of my Joomla adventure, I think it's only fair to assume that people I worked with do consider my person as being fair and friendly.

Few personal information:

- I was born in Poland but live in Germany since 2002.
- I studied computer science at University of Applied Sciences in Darmstadt.
- I speak English, German and Polish languages. Also a tiny little bit of Spanish which I'm currently learning.
- On a daily basis I work as software developer.
- I'm a passionate beekeeper and I love photography
- I'm a dog person and tend to trust dogs more than humans.
- Beside software development I have longtime experience in Linux administration.
- I am one of the founding members and former First Chairman of the PCJ Open Source Foundation Council.
- I spoke at several JoomlaDays and other Joomla conferences. I also helped to create the first JoomlaDay Poland.
- I love Joomla and its community and I believe in its future.

Thank you for taking your time to read it all.

Regards,
Radek
